Objektbeschreibung

The place on which the impressive property stands can be described as romantic!

The old mill exudes the peace and elegance of bygone times and is waiting to be kissed awake.

The old solidity and elegance of the old residents can still be felt in the house.

THE BUILDINGS:

The year of construction of the historic mill building cannot be determined. The origin is believed to be in the 14th century.

The massive outer walls protect several floors, which still contain the components of the old mill. These mill constructions and extensions are made of wood and impress with their aesthetically pleasing design.

The mill is one of the oldest Raab mills and was owned by the Trautmannsdorff family.

Mill operations ceased around 1950.

There is also no reliable information about the year of construction for the old part of the house. In 1970 it was expanded and is now divided into a ground floor and an attic.

The impressive building was constructed using solid construction and covered with Eternit shingles. There are several individual stoves in the house and there is an open fireplace in the living room.

The house is heated with oil.

The stables were probably built in their current form between 1966 and 1968. The building was constructed of solid construction and was single-story.

The boiler is currently housed here, but horses, sheep or other animals would be happy.

The triangular courtyard / farm building was mainly used as a shelter for vehicles and equipment. In this spacious building you will also find a horse stable with two marble troughs. This building was also constructed using solid construction and a single storey.

All buildings show a significant need for maintenance and renovation.

Likewise, all parts of the building can be used for different types of use.

USABLE AREAS:

	living space	Usable area
residential building	ca. 350 m2
mill		ca. 900 m2
stables		ca. 430 m2
Triangular courtyard/commercial building		ca. 374 m2

The properties are NOT listed!

AGRICULTURAL LAND:

The agricultural areas are contiguous, but are divided into different properties. Some of these are in the district of Leitersdorf/Feldbach and some are in the municipality of Lödersdorf. The dedications are to fields, gardens, forests, meadows and embankments (on the Raab). Except for the bank embankment, these properties are almost flat and are therefore very easy to manage.

The fields were leased until recently and can be worked by the new owner immediately after purchase.

REACHABILITY:

Feldbach city center can be reached in about 10 minutes by car. A nearby specialist market center offers shopping opportunities with all important goods - including groceries. An inn within walking distance enjoys an excellent reputation for its good cuisine. There is also a small shop with everyday goods in nearby Lödersdorf (15 minutes walk).

The area has a good infrastructure with schools, kindergartens and public transport.

INFRASTRUCTURE:

Access to the property is via private land.

The buildings are connected to the public supply network for electricity and wastewater as well as telecommunications.

The water is supplied via an artesian well located on the property, which is 70 meters deep.
